APPENDIX A – RADIO COMMUNICATIONS

The following are Best Practice preformat and shall not constitute grounds for a protest or request for redress if either a boat or Race Control fails to comply.

- (a) Boats should maintain a listening watch on VHF from at least 30 minutes before their start time and should report to Race Control that they are intending to race (recommended for cruisers; optional for dayboats).
- (b) Boats should refrain from trying to communicate with Race Control for any other purpose, or immediately before/during the starting sequence. Race control may acknowledge or ignore communications from boats at their discretion.
- (c) Race Control will where possible advise courses, start times, starting signals, recalls and any other relevant information by VHF in addition to the usual visual and sound signals. Such communications will be broadcast to fleets as a whole and not to individual boats.

APPENDIX B – CRUISER GATE START PROCEDURE

Cruiser 'Gate Start' – Procedure

The assigned gate boat shall be in the designated start area at least 10 minutes before the race start time.

The gate boat will then relay the course for the day on Channel 77.

Between 7 and 6 minutes before the race start time the gate boat shall 'hold station' (hove to/sails flapping/jib furled) on port tack at a suitable point within the designated start area, and shall inform the fleet on channel 77 that "Gate Boat (yacht name) is on station and will hold the gate open for nn seconds repeat" (the time to hold the gate open is calculated from table 1).

The gate boat shall advise on channel 77 of approaching 5 minute warning signal and announce the warning signal with a 5 second countdown. "5-4-3-2-1 5 minute warning signal". Subsequently the gate boat shall broadcast the 4 minute preparatory signal in the same manner "5-4-3-2-1 4 minute preparatory signal". The gate boat may deploy a trailing buoy on a line not exceeding 3m at any time it deems fit but no later than 20 seconds before the start.

At 15 – 10 seconds before the start the gate boat shall sheet in and steer a close hauled course on port, and announce the start with a 5 second countdown "5-4-3-2-1-Start line open"

Any yacht 'crossing astern' of the gate boat prior to the start shall perform a 360 penalty. Yachts racing may then pass on starboard astern of the trailing buoy on the gate boat, this buoy is deemed a starting buoy and any yacht hitting the buoy must perform a penalty 360 turn. No yacht shall impede the gate boat, this includes passing to windward and casting a wind shadow onto the gate boat until after the gate has closed.

After the appropriate length of time (as announced prior to the start sequence) the trailing buoy is redeemed and the broadcast "Gate Closed repeat". The gate boat is now free to tack or continue on port. While she continues on port she is exempt from the port starboard rule.

Any yacht that has not started may still pass behind the gate boat (providing she remains on port) but must do so by at least 3 boat lengths. If the gate boat has tacked on to starboard, any yacht that has not crossed the line may assume a position at least 3 boat lengths astern but NOT to windward.

In the event that the start has to be aborted (significant wind shift / gate boat impeded / gear failure on gate boat) a broadcast must be made, and no restart attempted until all yachts have returned to the designated start area. The procedure is then repeated.
